The Scrum agile development process is popular because it increases a project's chance of success by emphasizing periodic guidance, frequent inspections, and the ability to make changes as the project progresses. If you are in charge of a complex business project, learn the basics of Scrum and how to be a Scrum product owner tasked with ensuring that the end product meets customer needs.

Participants in the Certified Scrum Product Owner course learn to use a prioritized list of features called a product backlog to drive a Scrum project. In addition, participants learn proven ways to work as a liaison between the project team and the customer or users, as well as how to plan and make customer commitments, even on fixed-price projects.

Following successful completion of this course, participants will be designated as Certified Scrum Product Owners. This Scrum Alliance certification includes a two-year membership in the Scrum Alliance.

This course earns you 15 PDUs within the PMI. This course also earns you 16 SEUs (Category B) within the Scrum Alliance. PDUs and SEUs can be used toward PMP, PMI-ACP, CSP and other certifications.
